

Piper Keys Exhibitions

Edinburgh Leisure

Friday 1st June
Doors 7.30pm, set 8pm

Edinburgh Leisure take their name from the public/private trust operating health and fitness facilities in Scotland's capital. They make dance music by feeding gym timetables through the Mac's text-to-speech function before adding beats. The V.J. software Arena Resolume enables their audio signal to interact with imagery such as corporate media logos (BBC, Netflix, PornHub) so that it distorts these graphics and co-opts them into moving in time to the music.

Edinburgh Leisure have performed live at Rhythm Machine nightclub in Edinburgh as well as at The Talbot Rice, Edinburgh, High Art, Paris and most recently at The Old Hairdressers, Glasgow for the opening of Glasgow International. They will perform at the opening of Keith Farquhar's forthcoming solo exhibition at Cabinet in September.

Piper Keys is supported using public funding by the National Lottery through Arts Council England.
